MEXICO

THE PROGRESS OF ANARCHY-OUTRAGE UPON AN AMERICAN. From Our Own Correspondent.

MEXICO, Tuesday, Feb. 5, 1856.

This country is now in the midst of confusion, which is on the increase, and to which there appears to be no end. Since the date of my last letter the City of Puebla has been taken by Haro y Tamariz and his faction, the Government forces having capitulated; but a childish pride is mani fested at their having obtained the condition of marching out of that town with the honors of war. The defense, so called, lasted about three or four days. Since the occupation of Puebla by that faction they have named a Government, and are usurping all the powers of the general administration by imposing forced loans on the inhabitants and augmenting their soldiers by means of a forcible conscription. Their principal acts, however, are the imposition of a forced loan of $90,000 on the citizens, and the collection of the consumption duty on goods from Vera Cruz, in Puebla, when by the law of the Government in Mexico those duties are to be paid only in this city on the arrival here of the said goods. This latter act will be a fruitful source of reclamation against Mexico.

Consequent upon the fall of Puebla the Government has issued another circular to the Governors of the States informing them of the threatened danger and requesting the prompt enrolment of the National Guard. A part of this circular may not be out of place, though it be long. The President says:

It is natural that Society should ask an account of the second can it give the Government of itsacts. But of what can it give an account when it has had to fight before publishing the programme of its administration? The Republic an account when it has had to fight before problems, the programme of its administration? The Republic has seen with how much circumspection the Government has conducted itself. The President expected that, at least the Mexicans would wait in order to judge whether facts were borne out by proofs; he confided in the belief that the fact of their naving been so that at least, neutralized political fided in the belief that the fact of their naving been so often undeceived, had, at least, neutralized political passions; and promised himself that the memory of the pass might be an example for the future. But he had hardly taker, charge of the first magistracy when the interests of classes showed a determination to domineer over public interests; the licentious press preached reaction; one part of the sumy traitorously spurned their duties, and there have not been wanting Ministers of the Altar, who, converting the throne of truth into a tribune of secution, have sown among the people a germ une of secution, have sown among the people a germ which, perhaps, may produce very bitter fruits both to religion and the State.

rengion and the State.

"The programme of the Government has been carried out as far as it has been possible in so short a period, and the organic statute, and the law for individual guarantees, would have been sanctioned twenty days see vidual guarantees, would have been sanctioned what is in possible that an administrative programme be developed in an hour! and more especially during a period of civil war. Can a Government embarrassed in its progress by a revolution consecutive to conscientious labors the moments hardly sufficient to crush a danger! The object (of the reaction) is that there danger? The object (of the feaction) is that there shall be no order, to obstruct all progress, and to render a Government an impossibility, because this incessant anarchy increases fortunes; because at the bottom of that chaos, where ignoble passions are engeadered, emanate riches which satisfy bastard interests; because it is hoped that the turing out of some, the selfishness of others, and the disgust of all, will cause it is never to secure the weight of organity. the people to succumb beneath the weight of ougarchy, and to change liberty for peace, and their rights for material repose.

"This is what is desired, not the defense of divine

"This is what is desired, not the delense of divine religion, respected by the Government more than by any, not the support of the military institution, which is necessary and proper, which the Government respects and desires to restore to its former brilliancy; not the preservation of property, which is not attacked; not, in fine, the triumph of a principle, but the dominator of nervous." Notwithstanding the truth and the earnestness of this appeal, it will have but little effect, as, even if read, the people have had and have responded to many such, without any benefit to themselves, and are now indifferent. It is more than probable, however, that not one person out of twenty-five in this capital knows of its existence.

In consequence, also, of the fall of Puebla, the Government has sent about four thousand men with twelve pieces of artillery to drive Haro and his clique out. The most of them being raw recruits, raised by the orthodox method, by force of course, the probability is they will join the insurgents or run away on the first opportunity. Beside this, the Capital is receiving new troops from various quarters, and the fortineation of the city is going forward with all speed. Convents and is going forward with all speed. Convents and various other public buildings already have high tiers of sand-bags on the edges of their roofs and in the arches of their towers, and ditches are being made at the entrances to the city, and barricades are to be erected in various streets, if found necessary, at the proper time. It is stated in the papers that Uraga has fled to join Haro at Puebla, and that the section of counby he held is now passive, the various chiefs operating under him having, it is reported, surrendered, and to show their good will, having offered to serve the Government against the present re-Ghilardi, therefore, who operated against Uraga is on his return to this city.

The State of Michoacan is still held in a state of enthrallment by bigotry and superstition and supports, as far as the expression of opinion and feeling go, the faction against the Government; and although the late attempt in Morelia failed, Maravatic, a considerable town in the same State, ans revolted and several others are ready to follow.

The Archbishop of Mexico, on complaint being made to him by the Government that the curates made to him by the Government that the curates and clergy were moving the people to sedition in their various parishes, stated that he was not aware of the fact, but he would punish those who die to if the Government would give their names. Consequently Gen. Ghilardi, who went against Uraga in the Sierra Gords, gave him the names of five curates who were in open rebellion, and who constantly preached seditions sermons to the near constantly preached seditions sermons to the people of that section of the country. There are many others of a higher order doing the same in other parts.

The Hishop of San Luis Potosi has asked the President to annul the law restricting the privi-leges of the ciercy. The Government of the State of Yucaian, on the convery, has written to the Minister of Justice requesting him to interpose all his influence with the President in order that he sustain it.

There are now more than a dozen revolted military chiefs operating with more or less forces in verious parts on their own account, robbing the public money and aught else they want in the defer seless places they visit, in the name of religion and church privice cs. Whenever it pleases them, however, they take another tack and levy on the church goods in the name of the Government. An example of the latter occurred a few days a zo. A party of nearly a hundred and fifty horsemen from the City of Guansjuate, who, it was said, were going to join the forces of the Government at Querctare, halted on their march at a convent and demanded $56 in the name of the Government; and when the Prior told them he had not the noney, they told him to go out and get it, as they should wait his return. Hereupon the Prior left the convent, but he did not come back. The tropers, finding that a trick had been played upon them, ransacked the huge pile, but all they could find therein were two luckless friars, whom they took away with them as hostages for the money. Upon arriving at the next town, some leagues distant, they told the friers to go and get the amount they wanted, or they should carry them still further. One of them succeeded in finding a merchant who was willing to serve them, and he, with some difficulty, however, com-pounded the matter for $300, which was imme-ciately paid, and the friars were allowed to go back to their abode, while the horsemen continued their journey. Such events now frequently take Place.

Barren & Forbes, the richest merchants of Tepic, have been sent off from that town by the authorities of the State (Jalisco), for having upheld the late defection there against the Government. These gentlemen have held almost unimited sway on the rest coast for years, and have acquired im-mense wealth. Barron is the English Consul, and I believe Spanish Consul also, at Tepic, and Forbes (an Englishman) has managed to obtain, Forbes (an Englishman) has managed to obtain, and I believe to this day retains, the appointment of American Censul at the same place. He is also the Chilian Consul there. So that with all this, in combination with their wealth, they have attempted, for purposes of their own, it appears, to upret the legal authorities. It is time that our Government should appoint one of its own citi-Government should appoint one of its own citizens to that Consulate, and not have us subject to further disgrace. I, long ago, called the attention of the renders of The Tribune to the practices of merchants on that coast. A petition, signed by over 200 of the most respectable citizens of Tepic and San Elea has been say to the Government. and San Blas, has been sent to the Government, praying for the removal of the exequator from Forbes as American Consul, and the banishment of both him and Barren from the Republic as seditious persons.

In a letter to a friend in this city Vidaurri says that this revolt against the Government will have a good effect, as in his opinion the dovernment will be able to put it down, and they can then with less reluctance and more safety, do away with the abuses and put into immediate effect all the reforms required. Robberies are frequent on the roads and in th neighborhood of this city, as also in that of every principal town of the Republic.

Notwithstanding all the troubles by which the Government sees itself surrounded, it has found ime for one measure of the greatest importance to this country: that is the decree just issued, declaring the cultivation, manufacture, sale and ex-portation of tobacco free in all the Republic. Fach bale of demestic of 200 lbs is to pay at the tion duty of $2, and this is the whole duty to be required.

Foreign tobacco is to pay as follows:

Tobacco in the leaf is prohibited except on the Northern frontier, which is to be permitted there only only in case there be not enough raised for consumption. The duty is 374 cents per fb. It is to be hoped that this decree will be carried into effect. The Governor proceeds in general in the same manner in respect to getting men for the National Guard, as did Santa Anna in raising his immense arn y, i.e. by means of the press-gang. They have admitted that this was against the law; yet it has been persevered in, and in nine cases out of ten all the troops for the present occasion have been forced into the service. This has led to abuses, and among them not the least has been the attempt to press foreigners. In one instance a gang seized on an American, and upon his telling them that he was an American citizen, and conse quently exempt from their service, and refusing to go with them, he was as severely beaten by tiem as a common Mexican malefactor in the public streets would have been. This is a serious uniter; and we see what respect is had for the United States Government here, when they can beat one of our citizens under the nose even of our Minister. However, Gen. Gadsden has a relation of the whole affair before him, and I hope he may find himself in a position to call this Govhe may find himself in a position to can this don-ernment to a rigid account for their treatment to this American, and show them that we are to be protected from like assaults in future, not only in the City of Mexico, but throughout the length and breadth of this land. Mr. Pierce promised in his inaugural address that wherever an American placed his fort-legally, of course—the protecting influence of our Government should be extended to him. Let him not fail in this promise, nor let eur Ministers shrink from their duties to their citizens abroad.

MARINE AFFAIRS. FOR EUROPE.

The United States Mail steamship Washington, Capt. Cavendy, sailed from this port at 12 o'clock, Saturday, for Bremen via Southampton. She took out fifty pessengers, but no specie. LAUNCH OF THE SHIP SHEPHERD KNAPP.

The ship Shepherd Knapp was launched soon after 1 o'clock on Saturday morning from the Westervelt shippard, foot of Houston street, E. R. She stuck on the ways for some time, defying the efforts of the steaming Mercury to drag her off, and many persons who had gathered upon the wharves to see the launch, went away disappointed. Although the steaming left her, apparently for the purpose of prestyle.

LAUNCH OF THE UNITED STATES STEAM FRIGATE NIAGARA.

The United States steam-frigate Niagara was suc confully launched on Saturday morning from the Brock'yn Navy Yard. Although this launch has teen long deferred on account of the unfavorable weather, it has been looked for daily for some time past with much anxiety. The time selected was happy in the extreme, the morning being warm and soft, and without wind, and the river in the vicinity of the Navy Yard almost free of ice. Notice of the event was only announced the same morning, yet a vast assemblage of persens from all parts of the city thronged the Navy Yard, and crowded the wharves on both sides of the East River, at every point from which the launch could be observed. Had the appenreement been made earlier, in all probability a large number of persons from the country would have been present on the occasion; and as it was, she was launched an hour and a half earher than the time specified. Ample accommodations were afforded to speciators.

In the yard platforms were exceted for the ladies and children, and the United States ships North Carolina, Sabine and other vessels were thrown open to the public. In addition, one of the Green Point forrybeats, provided by Mr. Steers, took a large company of ladies and gentlemen, who had been invited, to a good point in the East River for witnessing the interceting event. The great lergth of the vessel, and the shallowness of the water in front of the ship-house, caused Mr. Steers to take extraordinary precantions to recure the safety of the launch. A very strong cradle was const ucted under her, and powerful chains and beams pessed through the hold to prevent her from straining in leaving the ways, while her stem was buoyed up by a number of empty casks for the same purpose. Every thing being ready and the critical moment having ar rived, the blocks were knocked away at 11 o'clock, and she slowly glided down the ways and into the water. So easy, quiet and graceful was her motion that persons close by her would not have known that she was launching if they had not been watching her. She left the ways and as she kissed the wave a young lady (Miss Anne O'Donnell of New-York), performed the ceremony of christening her; the guns of the North Carolina belehed a national salute, and cheer up on cheer rang out from the thousands of spectators which lined the shores of the East River. The impetus was so slight that she ran but two or three lergths into the over and then stopped. The launch was a complete success, and the beautiful frigate, as she sat swan-like up on the water, excited the admiration and enthusiasm of every beholder. Georgo Etcers, who stood at the end of the dock, fairly leaped from the ground in his exultation, and as his friends showered their congratulations upon him, he must have felt supremely happy.

The steam-tugs Leviathian and Huntress quickly took the Ningara in tow, and brought her to the wharf. After the launch, a large number of persens went on board and viewed her fine proportions, She will scon be taken into the Naval Dry Dock for coppering, when the public will have an excellent opportunity to inspect the details of her construction and the unrivaled beauty of her model.

We have already given the dimensions of this frigate, but a repetition may not be amiss on this occa-

The Niegara was built by Messrs, J. & G. Steers; Mr. George Steers was her architect. Her dimensions are: Tuntage, 5,200; extreme length on dock, 345 feet; load line, 3x3 feet; breadth of beam, 55 feet; depth of hold, 31 feet. The armament will consist of twe ve 11 inch pivot gans, to carry 170 pound shot, and a charge of 15 lbs. of powder. Her full complement of men is 400.

The following materials—exclusive of armament and from the keel to the truck, will be 200 feet high. The machinery is from the Fulton iron works. The Loilers, four in number, contain over 8,000 brass tabes, and weigh about 280,000 lb. She has three engines. The bed plates weigh 52,000 lb; the straight shafts 90,000 fb; the crank shaft, 40,000 fb; the eylinders, 19,000 Ib; condensers, 68,000 Ib; pistons, piston rode, pillew block, caps and cupolas, about 40,000 B.

The cost of this superb craft will be not far from $1,000,000. She is to be full ship-rigged. Mr. Steers estimates that she will go 17 knots an hour with a good breeze, and 15 knots under steam. RETURN OF THE ALABAMA.

The steamer Alabama, Capt. Schenek, arrived yesterday from a cruise in search of the Pacific. She was last from Halifax. She has visited Sable Island and the coast of New-Foundland, but was unable to proceed to the northward of Cape Race on account of in mense fields of ice, in which she was 24 hours.
